Eversys announces the acquisition of its Dutch distributor to drive growth through a direct market presence

Sierre, Switzerland – March 20th, 2026.

Eversys, a leading manufacturer of professional super-automatic espresso machines, today announces the acquisition of its distributor in the Netherlands, Eversys Netherlands (dba Coffee Capital). By integrating these operations, Eversys aims to further enhance its service excellence and provide a highly integrated experience for its local partners and customers within the Dutch market, a region that has shown a strong and growing affinity for Eversys' advanced coffee technology.

The European coffee market has been evolving rapidly over the years, with Eversys and La Marzocco playing active roles in this development. The expansion of Eversys' direct presence aims to accelerate growth in Europe and enhance interaction with its partners, fostering stronger relationships and promoting mutual success. This strategic acquisition is designed to further strengthen its presence, with Eversys Netherlands becoming the company's first subsidiary in the continental European region.

"The Netherlands has always felt like a natural home for our machines; the market there understands what we are doing with our espresso and milk technology," said Stefano Barato, Eversys's General Manager. "We thank Helen and Gerard at Eversys Netherlands. They've been incredible partners for years and have built a strong foundation for us to step onto. We're not just acquiring a business, we're welcoming a talented team of experts into Eversys and I look forward to seeing what we can achieve together now that we're working as one."
